

- Every effort has been made to provide correct and accurate information.
- For personal use only. For permission to reproduce multiple copies, please contact us at contact@whyquiltsmatter.org.

Janine Janni re Biography

Janine Janni re is associate professor of English at the National Institute of Applied Sciences in Toulouse, France. She holds a B.A. in American studies from Paris University. After being awarded a full scholarship, she earned a masters degree in education at the University of Connecticut in Storrs in 1977. There she discovered the American quilting tradition, which has been her focus ever since. She has done further research within a Ph.D. program in American studies at Paris VIII University. She did field work in the U.S. and was also a visiting scholar at the Institute of Appalachian Affairs of East Tennessee University. After discovering an important piece of antique French patchwork in 1990, she published the first article on documented French patchwork in Antiques magazine in 1995 and became a member of the International Centre for the Study of Ancient Textiles (CIETA). In 2003, she was a co-curator for the international exhibition Mosa ques d' toffes:   la Recherche de l'Hexagone at the Folk Art Museum of Normandy, and she co-authored and edited the catalogue.